

The Trinity Foundation Fund Descriptions

This document sets forth the purposes, restrictions, and distribution procedures for the various funds managed by The Trinity Foundation. Unless other governing documents are referenced within the description of a particular fund, this document shall serve as the sole governing document for all the funds identified herein. This document may be amended by the Vestry from time to time to create new funds or modify the descriptions of existing funds, unless such modifications are restricted by law or this document.

Definitions.

- Endowed Funds. Endowed funds are intended to be permanently invested funds. While a portion of endowed funds, referred to herein as the “Spending Rate” (see Distribution Procedures for Endowed Funds, below, for more detail), may be utilized for appropriate fund purposes, this designation assumes that the fund is to be preserved and should grow to keep pace with overall market conditions.
 - Permanently Endowed. If funds are permanently endowed by a donor or are directed by a donor to a fund that is designated as a permanently endowed fund by the Vestry, such funds may not later be changed to a non-endowed fund by the Vestry. The Foundation’s General Endowment Fund and Churchyard Fund are examples of permanently endowed funds.
 - Temporarily Endowed. Temporarily endowed funds are funds that have been designated as endowed funds by the Vestry or by a donor on a temporary basis. The Vernon Funds, for example, were received from the estate of Tom Vernon as an unrestricted gift and designated by the Vestry as temporarily endowed funds. However, the Vestry has the authority to alter this designation at any time.
- Non-Endowed Funds. Non-endowed funds may be fully expended for appropriate fund purposes. The Building and Property Fund and the Landscaping and Grounds Fund are examples of non-endowed funds.
- Restricted Funds. Restricted funds may only be utilized for designated purposes. If a donor makes a contribution to a restricted fund that imposes additional restrictions that are more limited than the general restrictions of the fund, a gift agreement memorializing the donor’s additional restrictions will be maintained.
 - Permanently Restricted. If funds are permanently restricted by a donor or are directed by a donor to a fund that has been designated as a permanently restricted fund by the Vestry, such fund restrictions may not later be changed by the Vestry. The Churchyard Fund, the Organ Maintenance

Endowment, and the Seminarian Fund are examples of permanently restricted funds.

- Temporarily Restricted. Temporarily restricted funds are funds that have been designated as restricted funds, by time or by project, by the Vestry or by a donor on a temporary basis. As noted above, the Vernon Funds were received from the estate of Tom Vernon as an unrestricted gift and designated by the Vestry as restricted funds. However, the Vestry has the authority to alter this designation at any time.
- Unrestricted Funds. Unrestricted funds may be used for any purpose. The Daughters of the Holy Cross Fund is an example of an unrestricted fund.
- Distributions and Disbursements. “Distributions” means the allocation of any particular amount(s) from a given fund for operational or programmatic purposes, and “disbursements” means the expenditure of approved distributions. Once distributions from a fund have been authorized as provided herein, no additional approval or authorization is needed from the Vestry or Finance Committee for the disbursement of all such distributions.

Distribution Procedures for Endowed Funds.

Distributions from endowed funds are limited to a “Spending Rate” set by the Trinity Foundation Commission each year after consultation with its investment advisors and after considering factors such as those set forth in the South Carolina Uniform Prudent Management of Institutional Funds Act, SC Code Section 34-6-10, et. seq. (“UPMIFA” – a copy of which is attached hereto as Exhibit A). The Spending Rate has historically been 4%.

The Spending Rate is multiplied by the “Average Fund Balance” for the prior twelve calendar quarters to determine the “Spendable Amount” for the fund for the year. If there are fewer than twelve preceding calendar quarters for the fund, then the Spending Rate is multiplied by the Average Fund Balance over all preceding calendar quarters of the fund to determine the Spendable Amount. The Spendable Amount for any calendar year is calculated using the methodology set forth above as of March 31st of the prior calendar year.

If the Spendable Amount is not withdrawn from the fund during any year, the Spendable Amount may be carried forward (the “Accumulated Spendable Amount”) and withdrawn in later years, however, in calculating the Spendable Amount for any later year any Accumulated Spendable Amount must be subtracted from the Average Fund Balance before applying the Spending Rate.

(Average Fund Balance - Accumulated Spendable Amount) x Spending Rate =
Current Year Spendable Amount
